Reasons for comment:
Comments:	The works carried out have been executed with the utmost care and of a quality which is exemplary. It is a great shame given this is evidential on inspection, that a more proportionate response from the planning officer was not forthcoming. Appreciably a Listed Building requires special care and attention but again, what could one wish for with the obvious need for ongoing maintenance of an old building than that work carried out so meticulously with no expense spared. I do hope the owner will be spared from further somewhat irregular intrusions into his quiet enjoyment of his home.

Kind regards
