Comments Details

Commenter Type: Neighbour or general public

Stance: Customer objects to the Planning Application

Reasons for comment:

Comments: Many people may have chosen NOT to object as they were of the belief that this estate would have solar panels but now find the plans have conveniently changed. With electricity issues in the village already band numerous power cuts this will only add a strain on already near breaking point services and is unacceptable - add in the governments new directive of solar panels for all new houses and it is crystal clear that this amendment should fail. Why planning applications continue nationwide to be allowed to promise A but deliver B is beyond me but I have faith that our council will take this into consideration and not be unduly swayed by big business as opposed to the needs of the local residents.

Kind regards
