Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Turner Court's entrance is a narrow road with limited parking. Large Vehicles have difficulties entering and exiting at present. The introduction of another dwelling at the end of the Proposer's garden is not viable. It will create havoc for vehicles entering and exiting for current residents! It will also degrade the appearance and feel of Turner Court. One of the main reasons we purchased our property recently was that it was quiet and exclusive. Having another property at the end of the garden will set a precedence. There are plenty of housing projects in the area. To cause this much disruption for 1 small house is not justifiable. The current owners rent their property (they do not live there), and believe their main objective is making money at the expense of the Turner Court Residents.

Kind regards
