Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

- ☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Details of the pre-application advice received

Both the planning officer and tree officer were consulted by the applicant with positive advice and requirements received from both.

The pre-application response from the planning officer was positive for a garage conversion providing design issues were addressed:

"Advice is firstly sought regarding converting the garage into an annexe, which would include re-constructing a lean to addition to the rear. As discussed, from a planning perspective, annexe accommodation would be expected to have a dependency on the main house so it could not be severed. I would therefore recommend that the accommodation provided within the garage conversion should be limited to a bedroom, living room and wet room (or similar). Through not including a kitchen it shows that the annexe would still be dependent on the main house and could not be used independently. Patio doors could also be included at the rear to allow access to the garden. I would also recommend that the windows and bricks used to replace the garage doors match those found within the main house. You are, of course, welcome to submit the scheme of your choosing for any subsequent planning application."

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
