Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I'm despairing at yet another loss of an open field site with open views on farmland. We are in a bio diversity crisis and our countryside is being subjected to concrete and bricks. There may be a housing shortage but using a site like this is a travesty. The roundabout is shockingly big, it totally urbanises a once country right hand turn before Borde Hill site was built - the roundabout there is also large and urban. The roundabout now submitted is unacceptable for a country location.

I would like to object strongly to the 117 houses on the basis of over development, loss of habitat and farmland and urban sprawl.

Kind regards
