Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I have lived in the wider area for many years and we care about the villages around here staying healthy and active. From looking at where this proposal is, it seems like a very sensible spot because it joins onto houses that are already built rather than pushing further out into the countryside. We've seen in other places how villages can end up with houses spread out along roads or in awkward locations, and that doesn't seem to be the case here. This proposal looks contained and tidy, and in our opinion that's usually the best way for a village to grow over time.

Kind regards
