Subject: RE: DM/24/2815 The Old Rectory, Church Lane, Twineham

Hi Hamish

Further comments on the above planning application, following the receipt of revised plans. Please read these in conjunction with my previous comments on the proposal which are repeated below for convenience.

The proposal has been amended to show the position of the proposed new parking bays pulled back slightly towards the garage and house, which also consequently slightly reduces the amount of additional hardstanding proposed. In my opinion, although this has the effect of slightly reducing the associated loss of the existing verdant garden area around the house, it does not adequately address the concerns previously raised in regard of the loss of garden area, or the impact on the still appreciable original layout of the front gardens, with the sweeping carriage driveway. I would reiterate the recommendation that this aspect of the proposal is omitted from the scheme, in favour of the previously approved layout.

As it stands I remain of the opinion that the proposal detracts from the garden setting of the house, and the contribution that this makes to the special interest of the building and the manner in which this is appreciated. This is contrary to the requirements of District Plan Policy DP35 and in terms of the NPPF results in less than substantial harm at around the low-mid point of that scale, such that the balancing exercise set out in paragraph 215 will apply.

Thanks,

Emily

Subject: DM/24/2815 The Old Rectory, Church Lane, Twineham

Hi Hamish

Comments on the above planning application.

The application site, the Old Rectory, is a Grade II listed early 19th century house located in a semi-rural position within the village of Twineham. The building is in a neo-Classical style typical of the period, having a formal, symmetrically composed façade with a low pitched hipped roof with wide eaves, central triangular pediment, and rusticated ground floor with projecting central entrance porch with flanking pilasters. Although extended to either side, this original and characteristic symmetry is still readily appreciated, and is enhanced by elements of the extensive landscaped gardens between the house and the Lane, in particular the double entrances from the road and the original curving carriage driveway which sweeps between lawns across the front of the house.

Planning permission and listed building consent were granted in 2023 for demolition of the existing garage and construction of a new garage with proposed gym and office in the roof space, with associated hard and soft landscaping, together with alterations to the driveway to provide access to the new garage. The current proposal is in effect for amendments to this approved scheme to redesign and extend the hard surfacing/parking area which as approved was to the front and side of the garage, as well the creation of a patio area to the eastern side of the house.

To consider the patio first, this would be an extension of an approved terraced area to the south east corner of the building, would be set against an existing extension to the building, and is not in my opinion contentious subject to detail.

I do however have concerns regarding the proposal amendments to the garage access/parking provision. As approved, this is shown in a compact arrangement to the front and eastern side of the garage, having a relatively minor impact on the verdant character of the gardens of the listed building, and not extending significantly forward of the house's façade. The bulk of the hardsurfacing is also set away from the existing driveway. This was considered to preserve key elements of the house's garden setting, including their open and green nature, and the appreciation of the arrangement of the original carriage driveway and flanking lawns. In contrast, the current proposal would introduce an extended area of hard surfacing significantly forward of the house and garage. In my opinion, this would have an unacceptable impact on both the verdant character of the front gardens to the Old Rectory, and on the current appreciation of the original layout of the garden area to the front of the house, detracting from the formal arrangement of double entrances and the sweeping curved driveway reflecting and enhancing the formal, symmetrical composition of the building's façade. I would therefore recommend that this element of the proposal is omitted from the scheme.

As it stand I consider that the proposal is contrary to the requirements of District Plan Policy DP34. In terms of the NPPF, it would result in less than substantial harm, through impact on setting, to the special interest of the listed building. I would place this harm at around the low-mid point of that scale. Paragraph 215 will therefore apply.

Thanks,

Emily
