Reasons for comment:
Comments:	We are writing to you to question the objections which we understand have been raised by the Planning Authority in regards to works being undertaken at Marlow House, 107 High Street, Lindfield. We are residents of the village, and have lived here for a number of years: we are proud that Lindfield is rightly regarded as a gem and deserving of great care in what is done to its buildings, to preserve their essential structures and to ensure that their place in village history is respected and only improved by stabilising, enhancing sympathetic treatment in whatever works are undertaken. Clearly, the quality of work now evident at Marlow House underlines the intention to spend whatever ensured that the restoration of the house and its area would be done to the very highest, sympathetic and sensitive standards. Looking back at the condition of the property before this restoration was started, it was in a very sorry state, while the result now self-evidently has immediately enhanced not only this building, but an important part of the area and village High Street; the owner has undertaken what will have needed a very substantial investment, and it seems to us a pity that there appear to be issues now which are holding back the formal approval of such carefully planned and sensitive improvements. We hope that the Planning Authority can take account of the benefit to the village which full approval of the application will undoubtedly bring.

Kind regards
