Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I am a former governor of Warninglid School and obviously sad that it was no longer sustainable. But turning the school into housing while keeping some of the features of the school will be an important reminder that there once stood a school. However, I object to building further houses on the site, especially since from a design perspective they are not in keeping with the former school. The village does not need further family homes-- there is no school, viable bus service, sewage etc etc. Moreover trees will have to come down, and it could open the path to further significant building which the village does not have the resources to support.
