Dear Sally,

Apologies for the delay in responding. Please find attached the ordnance survey and site plan which I hope are now correct.

With regards to the side elevation, I have had trouble finding it in my documents from when we had the work done. The reason being that we didn't change anything on the side of the house. I note that we didn't need a front elevation as we changed nothing at the front - is this the same for the side elevation? I do also note that our neighbours only submitted a front elevation, presumably because, like us, they didn't alter the side.

Thank you for your help.

Kind regards,

Gemma

Dear Gemma

You have not submitted the side elevation, that is why I am asking for it and yes a scale of 1:50.

Regards

Sally

Good afternoon,

I've just received a letter stating I need to submit some further documentation - the ordnance survey and site plan I understand but the side elevation is at a scale of 1:50 and looks practically identical to one my neighbour submitted for their planning application. Can you advise what the problem is with it?

Kind regards,

Gemma Lintott
