Dear Mr Watt,

Thank you for sending this to me.

Parking is definitely needed, but most will look just like grass so will have minimal environmental impact.

The provision of pads for the annual erection of the marquee will make the construction much simpler, and will require many less heavy vehicles and labour each year hence forth. Less vehicles means a lot less noise. Again with minimal environmental impact.

I would whole heartedly support this application.

Reasons for comment:

Comments: Parking is a problem without this. In earlier years at events, I have had trouble even getting a 4 wheel drive vehicle out of a muddy field.

Kind regards
