Stance:	Customer objects to the Planning Application
Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I honestly cannot believe this is even being considered, putting aside the fact Crawley Down not having the amenities to cope with further housing. Has anyone thought about the homeowner that would end up with a road either side of the home. If these objections are actually taken into account and this message gets read, please take a moment to think about what this means to them. I don't personally know the homeowner, but I know if that were me in that situation it would likely be enough to tip me over the edge. Shameful.

Kind regards
