Reasons for comment:

Comments:	College lane cannot cope with another development. It's a single track lane with thousands of vehicles travelling through it daily to cut through towards Hurst College and Burgess Hill. This coupled with the thousands of homes proposed on beautiful green sites is degrading and destroying the fabric and environment of the countryside. The strategic gap is no longer strategic it seems.

	The local infrastructure just cannot cope. The sewage system is literally bursting and depositing raw sewage in the fields not far from the proposed houses. It also doesn't meet low income affordable homes. There are plenty of new homes that are vacant in Sayers Common that need to be filled before building more homes. The drought this summer is proof that the water system cannot cope.

Please stop building on green sites.

Kind regards
