Reasons for comment:
Comments:	We wish to register our full support for the revised plans, which address our previous concerns about the location of the annex building. The revised plan has moved the annex building away from our living and sleeping quarters to a position south of the existing apple trees which is perfect, giving the family member privacy and having no material effect on us.

We will now not suffer from the overbearing impact and loss of outlook, and significantly increased noise and disturbance during and following the construction phase.

We understand in the case of a separate annex building, both a planning restriction/covenant can be applied to prevent further development of the annex in the future and also preventing the plot being divided in to two separate plots.

Kind regards
