Good morning Scott

Thank you for your email and I apologise for my delay in replying to you. Unfortunately, the planning registration system is undergoing essential maintenance today and tomorrow, so there will be a delay in uploading the additional plans, altering the description and re-advertising the application. Once the process has been completed you will be advised.

Regards

Anna

Hello Anna,

The applicant requested adding an AC unit to the proposal which I have included this and shown it on the proposed plan.

While making the update I realised that I had left off an existing rear facing window from the existing and proposed elevations - please see also find attached the correction.

Please can you kindly accept these plans and upload them to the planning register for consideration.

Many Thanks,

Scott Ellisdon
