Reasons for comment:
Comments:	My concern is about noise level nuisance to neighbours. The map does not show where within the property boundaries the heat pumps will be located. The property is bounded to the west and east by apartment blocks rising up to four floors and having access to balconies overlooking Cherry Tree Court. The car park is sited to the north and because of the slab sided buildings adjacent, noise from this area is highly reflected. The position that would least affect neighbours would be on the south side alongside Queen Elisabeth Avenue.

An acoustic enclosure is mentioned but no level of sound reduction is specified. By the very nature of the air source heat pumps these units cannot be fully enclosed therefore given the height of the adjacent buildings, the height of the enclosure sides also needs to be stipulated if the pumps are to be sighted anywhere other than the south side of the building.

Kind regards
