Reasons for comment:

Comments: I fully support this planning application and applaud the sensitivity and investment made by the owners.

When the applicant bought the property, it was in a very poor condition and threatened to erode the aesthetic and authenticity of the High Street.

Since then, they've invested significantly in restoring the building to an exceptionally high standard that helps to rejuvenate the High Street and maintain the livelihood of the village.

Myself and many other owners of properties on the High Street (as the genuine custodians of the Conservation Area) believe that the work has been carried out sensitively and with great care taken to preserve and enhance the character of the Listed Building - both inside and out.

The materials used are entirely appropriate for both the building and the surrounding Conservation Area. The landscaping and rear alterations have further improved the property's setting. Having seen the interior, I can say it's exceptional, with so many period features beautifully retained. This is exactly the kind of high-quality restoration we should be encouraging in Lindfield and beyond.

Kind regards
