Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I am struggling to understand why we need more houses, the current new builds are not being sold. For an example, they are currently building 12 new houses in Balcombe, they are advertising only sold half despite being on the market for a considerable amount of time, where as normally housing in Balcombe is sold with a week or two. Do we really need go destroy more fields and nature for houses that will only sit empty, so i urge you to please actually investigate if these houses are really required or will the countryside be destroyed and the houses just sit empty like so many more. Thank you

Kind regards
