Reasons for comment:
Comments:	As someone who walks past this house every day, I've seen how neglected and run-down it has become over the years. It's the one house in the area that has been so neglected and I'm glad that something may finally be happening to improve it. The proposed demolition and redevelopment will not only transform the property into a modern, well-maintained home but also enhance the overall look and feel of the area, benefiting both residents and the community.

Kind regards
