Dear Andrew

My apologies for the slow response.

My clients can confirm that the dwellings relating to this application are currently lived in and well- established and there are no bats roosting in the buildings.

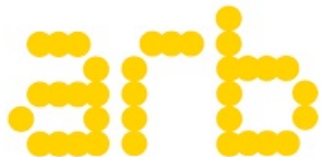

Kind regards,

Vicki

Ms Mustard,

I am just chasing up my email from 11th August regarding bats and ecology comments.

Can you confirm the situation given I am aware that the determination date is upcoming.

Subject: The Stables Old Hollow update

To Ms Mustard,

Dm/26/1462 – The Stables, Mill House, Old Hollow - Demolition of an existing dwelling. Erection of a new extension to the retained dwelling comprising single storey living and bedroom accommodation. Extension to existing rear deck area. Front extension with bedroom wing.

Whilst I have no issue with the proposal given it is a fairly modest enlargement to the previously approved DM/25/1967.

As you may have seen, our ecology consultants have commented regarding impact on bats (see attached). Obviously based on previous applications at the site, the dwellings are well established, so I assume there are no roosting bats.

If you could confirm that would be much appreciated.

Kind regards,
