Reasons for comment:

Comments: I support the proposed application of the telescopic mast.

This type of mast is well engineered and of a relatively slim design that has a minimum profile compared to other masts, whilst allowing the licenced amateur radio operator to use their radio and maintain the associated equipment.

I have visited the applicants property and seen the installation.
It has been constructed to a very high standard.

Amateur radio transmissions are unlikely to cause interference to mobile phone networks plus additional filtering has been fitted to the installation to minimise any possible interference.

Yours sincerely

Kind regards
