Dear Darren,

I attach the marked up site plan. Two samples were taken from the small area of garden to the rear of the property as this was likely to be used by the future residents. The other two samples were from the narrow area to each side of the building which are not likely to be used to grow vegetable and may be partially paved.

The samples sent to Chemtec were clearly marked with the depth at which they were taken however this information was not recorded on the report of the test results. The trial pit logs show the depth at which samples were taken sample.

Regards,

Keith
