Dear Ms Grist

I attach some photos in support of the submission.

This shows the removal of the scaffolding and cover. Note the extent of the structure that was, arguably, designed to hide the work underneath it.

This view is from our drive looking towards #34 and #36 (blue). It demonstrates the overbearing impact of the front extension on our previously unobstructed view.

Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Please note that, unlike #31 and #33, we have never been included in any of the MSDC Neighbour Notification materials, although we are 2 doors away and the development is very obvious from both the front and the rear of our property. 1. The finished development deviates significantly from the planning permission that was received. We only became aware of the shape, form and size of the final development once the all-encompassing scaffolding and covering had been removed. 2. The white side wall of the front elevation protrudes from the property line (looking towards #34 and #36) and negatively impacts the general view from the front of our property along Savill Road. It has a significant overbearing impact. 3. The quality of the design may be architecturally clever but the overall effect has been to add very large, dark/black boxes to a late 1960s/early 1970s property. It is incongruous in the semi-rural/suburban environment of Savill Road and, from the rear appears, to intrude into the countryside. 4. The Householder Application form has an error. Under 'Site Visit', the answer to the question 'Can the site be seen from a public road, public footpath, bridleway or other public land?' is 'No'. Savill Road is a public road and the site and property can be seen.

Kind regards
