Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Hello, I am not objecting to a telecoms mast on any aesthetic, health or moral grounds but surely there are plenty of open spaces nearby within a mile radius for such a tall tower which won't cast shadows over 7 neighbouring north-facing gardens, which see little sunlight as it is, and there are 2 trees next to the proposed location which are nesting sites for groups of magpies.

There's also the concern that building a telecoms mast so close to an National Grid electric substation isn't the most prudent option given flooding risks in the area or security concerns surrounding the controversy with phone masts

Kind regards
