Hi Hamish

Yes this is fine, the proposals do not include a kitchen.

Kind regards

Andy

Dear Andy,

Thank you for the below email. I am just finishing my report on the above application, the existing description states that the annexe would be self-contained however the annexe does not contain any cooking facilities so there would be reliance on the rest of the dwelling. As such please could you confirm you are happy for me to remove self-contained reference from the description? This would be a preference over amending the plans to include a kitchen within the annexe.

Thank you,
Kind regards,

Hi Hamish

Hope you are well.

Just a quick email checking in to see how the application is progressing now that the consultation period has ended.

Please can you provide an update?

Many thanks

Andy Swaisland
