Hi Rebecca

Further to my previous e mails re the above planning application, I have noticed a further discrepancy between the submitted plans and what has been constructed on site. The extract below is from plan number TOC-400 A, which is entitled Existing Floor Plan Showing Flat 1A.

However, what is shown on the floor plan does not align with what is shown on the Existing South East Elevation on plan number TC.01 PL08 J3, as shown in the extract below.

Existing South East Elevation

The above elevations are incorrect as they do not show the correct arrangement of the windows and doors and do not align with what is shown on the floor plans.

I'd be grateful if this could be corrected please.
