Good Morning Andrew,

Hope this email finds you well?

My partner who is cc'd into this email, has just submitted his response to the planning application listed above. To support our response regarding the loss of important trees, you can see in picture 1 there was a very thick tree line.

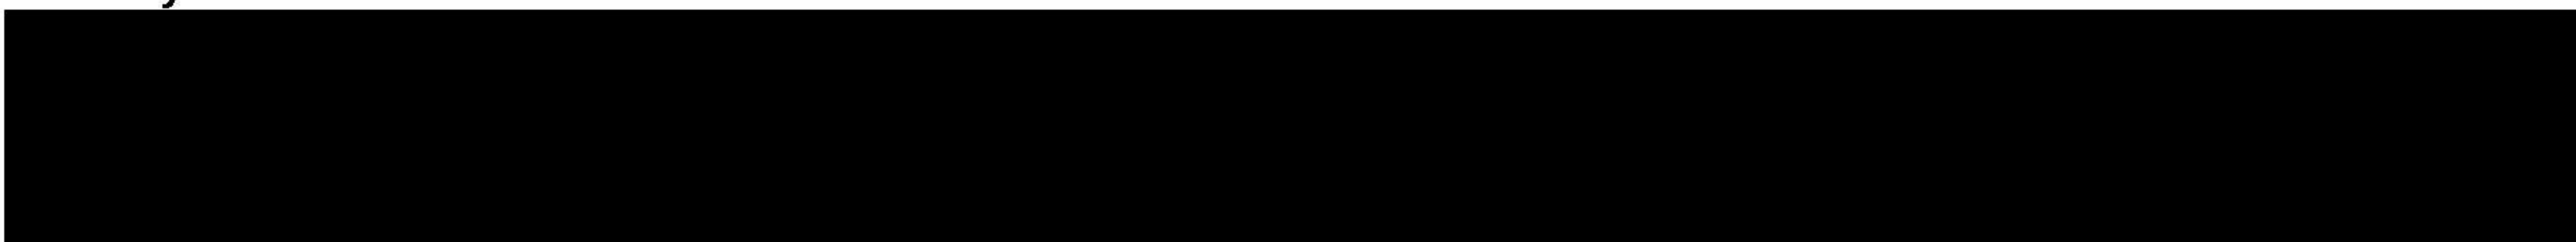

Here in picture 2 is the tree line now:

I did also report him to Environmental Department for the bonfire he had burning all the trees he cut down as this caused a massive impact on us, we were unable to open window, cars and garden covered in ash, all these pictures submitted to environmental.

Many thanks

Good Morning Andrew,

Thank you so much for this information. I have found the relative document.

Many thanks

Miss White,

Many thanks for your email from this morning.

The plans are available on the Mid Sussex Planning Register. I know due to IT issues or updates it occasionally is unavailable.

How to view the plans are the following:

Once within the planning register, put in relevant reference number DM/26/0850, then click on ' Relevant documents' tab and then click on 'View associated documents'.

This will then list the plans submitted with the application.

Kind regards,

Good Morning Andrew,

Hope this email find you well?

We received the notification of planning application through our door end of last week, I have been on the Mid Sussex Council Website trying to find the planning plans for this garage, to see where it is going to be placed on Friars Oak Farm.

Will this become available to the public to see before the 4th May deadline?

Many thanks
