Dear Steven,

Further to my email below, please see attached a revised drawing showing the vehicular access gates, the adjacent fixed fence panel and the pedestrian gate next to the fixed panel. The additional site photograph on the drawing shows the vehicular sliding gate partially slid across the opening.

Can you please confirm safe receipt of this information and if possible ,please also confirm that the condition can now be discharged?

Thanks and Regards

Dear Steven,

Thanks for your email.

I have been away from the site due to my current health issues since late September, but I have just spoken to the team and they have indeed installed sliding gates to add security to what they have learned can be quite a challenging location in that regard, particularly at night over the weekend.

They are sending me some photographic images of the gates and I will amend the drawing accordingly with this information. With a fair wind, I will have that over to you today, but no later than tomorrow.

Thanks and Regards

I've revisited the site and have seen the fencing that has been installed. I'd be grateful if you could clarify a point for me, please.

The attached plan does not show the gates to the under-croft car parking area. This is part of the fencing for the scheme so I think it should be shown on the plans for the discharge of the condition. Am I correct in saying that the gates slide across rather than opening inwards or outwards?
