Reasons for comment:
Comments:	I would like to formally register my support for this planning application. I live in the neighbouring village of Cuckfield and often visit Ansty, so it has been lovely to see the village continue to grow in such a thoughtful and well-planned way. I think it is really positive that Ansty is creating opportunities for more families to join the community through the provision of well designed new homes.

The first phase of the development has already shown that new housing can integrate successfully with the existing village, with 20 attractive homes now forming part of the community. This revised proposal feels like a natural continuation of that development and provides another opportunity to welcome new families to Ansty.

From the plans, the homes appear to be well designed and in keeping with the character of the surrounding development. I also like the balance of different property sizes, which should appeal to a range of households and help create a mixed and sustainable community rather than a one size-fits-all development.

Every village needs the opportunity to evolve, and I believe carefully considered developments such as this help ensure rural communities continue to thrive. This proposal appears to have been thoughtfully designed, sits well alongside the existing homes and would, in my opinion, be a real asset to the village.

Overall, I think this would be a superb development, and I very much hope the application is approved.

Kind regards
