Stance:	Customer made comments in support of the Planning Application
Reasons for comment:
Comments:	With the gross shortage of housing every effort should be made to approve applications for new housing where possible. Furthermore self builds give the opportunity for personal involvement thus reduced costs making them more affordable. In context to the position of the proposal there has been varied development along this road in the recent past and so a precedent has already been established. I support this application. Kind regards

Kind regards
