Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Hello, my name is George and I am 10 years old. I heard that a big antenna will be installed near where I live and play. I don't understand why it has to be so close to our homes and woods. Is it really safe for kids like me? Grown-ups say it gives off something called radiation, and that sounds scary. I like playing outside with my friends, and I don't want a big noisy thing near the playground or the woods. Please think about the kids and families who live here. I hope you say no to the mast.

Kind regards
