Reasons for comment:
Comments:	Traffic levels on Hanlye Lane are already excessive for a small country lane, particularly one in such a bad state of repair. This will increase the level of risk at the Cuckfield end, where traffic from th8s estate will be joining the lane, very close to the existing roundabout, which traffic already cuts through. The intent to cut down beautiful pine trees, that have a TPO on them, and which add to the view from Hanlye Lane toward the South Downs, is shameful. Impact on wildlife, particularly the ducks which inhabit the pond, has this been considered.

Kind regards
