Reasons for comment:
Comments:	This plan proposes to greatly extend the coach house far beyond the boundary of the original building. The design extends to replace a recently added garage with a two-story extension, which is totally out of scale and character with the original Victorian stable building. It is made worse because it is being built on the front of the building, obscuring a large proportion of the old building such that the character of the stable is "lost". The build will then become just another faceless utilitarian domicile, poorly fitting into its Victorian surroundings.

Kind regards
