Attention: Ann Biggs

With regards the planning notice as defences above for the installation of the lattice mast, this mast is too close to homes. We are off of a number of families that reside close to the location where the planning notice indicates this mast may be erected.

The absolute safety of these masts has not been entirely established with some countries specifically regulating for their exclusion from locations close to where people live. Our family notes it's objection to this mast being this close to our homes.

Kind regards
