This is a crazy idea! We never have internet or water and the village is too tiny to have that many houses. There are always crashed on the road by the garage, I'm too scared to cross it - even at the crossing as there are always crashes when you press the button!!!! Also every time there is a crash everyone zooms through the tiny roads to get around it and its scary even walking up our road. we had a crash at our gate as people were trying to squeeze past when there wasnt room.

The school is tiny too with only 9people in my brothers year. Theres just no space for those extra people and cars and no buses and nothing for them to do. They should build houses near the town then they can go to the schools and there are shops they can walk to.

Kind regards
