Hello

I wish to convey my objection to the proposed plan to put a mobile phone tower in the green area next to the railway tracks in Worlds End. I and my family live at [REDACTED] and feel this would be intrusive in many ways. Its massive height will ensure it imposes on every garden in the area, reducing garden enjoyment and potentially lowering house prices. The area where it will be situated is a lovely piece of greenery that many of us enjoy, not just as a thoroughfare to the station, park and shops but to take dogs for walks, pick blackberries, wave with my young children at the trains and teach them about nature. The area is so close to Bedelands, which has already seen changes very close by with the new massive housing development going on. It really doesn't need something so ugly and imposing towering close by. I think it would be a terrible, terrible shame to build something like this, on a piece of land so abundant with nature. In the age of WIFI and the internet we are not dependant on mobile phone coverage like we once were. Indeed, we manage perfectly fine here with the less than ideal coverage.

Please please do not put a mast here.

Thank you
